Art Unit: 1616

Applicant's election with traverse of X=amide, R=glycerol and W=carboxylate esters in the reply filed on 9/2/05 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that a combined search and examination of all species can be conducted without serious burden. This is not found persuasive because applicants claim a plethora of addition polymers. Applicants can overcome the requirement by stating on the record that the polymers are equivalent; however, a prior art rejection over one polymer will be applicable to all.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bezwada et al (US 5,607,687).

Bezwada et al '687 teaches compositions comprising PEG polymers and carboxylate ester linkages with methylene groups near the latter (column 2 line 11- column 3 line 2). Coupling agents including glycerin are disclosed (column 4 line 61).

Art Unit: 1616

Claims 5, 6, 10-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 5 "in proximity" is vague; it is subjective. In claim 10 "suitable is vague; under what conditions?

No claims allowed.
